

Breaking Wave

Thunder rumble and rain drops dance
Give this old heart a second chance
Drift wood float down that restless stream
Sleep return to that broken dream

Cause I feel like I'm moving
Like my luck is gonna change
For the wind is wild and the wheel is turning again

Catch that breaking wave
Catch that breaking wave
Catch that breaking wave
That's crashing all around you
Catch that breaking wave
Catch that breaking wave
Catch that breaking wave
Don't let that devil catch up with you

I've been locked out and I've been lost
I've been hoodwinked and double crossed
Worn out just trying to catch my breath
Afraid of life and afraid of death

But I feel like I'm moving
I can hold my head up high
I believe I've found the key and I don't even know why

Wasted days become wasted years
A man can drown in those wasted tears
Walking barefoot on broken glass
Down the blind alleys of the past

But I feel like I'm moving
Like my luck is gonna change
For the wind is wild and the wheel is turning again

Catch that breaking wave
Catch that breaking wave
Catch that breaking wave
That's crashing all around you
Catch that breaking wave
Catch that breaking wave
Catch that breaking wave
Don't let that devil catch up with you
